

ILLUSTRATIONS

Illustrations are a popular way to present visual communications for Indigenous audiences due to their cultural sensitivity.

They can be based on photographs so accuracy is assured and do not date, ensuring longevity of your campaign.

OneTalk works with Sprout's Illustrators who can provide diverse illustrative styles from simple line art to detailed caricatures, customised to suit budgets and timeframes.

These illustrations are examples of different styles which can be used to bring your talking project to life.

